

Women of Vision and Action

According to their colleagues, the 187 women listed below and on the next page had an idea and took action to bring that idea to fruition; therefore, we are recognizing them as Women of Vision and Action. From recent initiates to long-time members, they include mentors, chapter or state officers, and extraordinary educators. They may have worked quietly behind the scenes to see that a job was completed, taken bold leadership steps to create a new project, helped find members to start a new chapter, or underwritten an activity for their community. These women are innovators, visionaries with abilities to see the big picture and share that vision with others. They fulfill the Purposes of the Society. They are Women of Vision and Action!
